Nancy and Pato, two close friends, leave their hometown in the Argentinean Northeast and reaches Buenos Aires, looking for a better future. But in the city, they fall victim to a hoax and are forced to work in a brothel. In order to survive, all they can do is resisting and adapting, and each one does so in her own way. Only together they'll be able to find their liberation. But, Nancy, the elder one, adapts to the situations in the brothel and would never take the decision to try to escape, while, Pato wants to escape from the trap.
