Master filmmaker Krzysztof Zanussi takes the young star Stefan of his last film, A Heart in the Palm and sends him to interview his earlier characters in an attempt to find where the filmic characters have gone since the endings of their own movies. Incorporating actual footage from the films, this pseudo documentary acts as a reflection on previous works, while managing to create a new dialogue between Zanussi and his viewers. A unique and interesting examination of his own work, the director has seemingly set his characters free and has now allowed us to view them in the wild.
